NATURE'S REMEDIES
DR. GATES' ELECTRO-MAGNETIC PASTELS PILLS
For the Speedy and Permanent Cure of Seminal Weakness, Nocturnal and Diurnal Emissions, Nervous and General Debility, Impotency, and all Diseases arising from Solitary Habits, or Excessive Indulgence.
THERE are thousands of YOUNG MEN, as well as MIDDLE AGED and OLD MEN, who are suffering to some extent from the above diseases. Many, perhaps, are not aware of the true condition, or when assistance is really needed.
For the benefit of such, we herewith give a few of the most common symptoms, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs; Pain in the Head and Side; Faintness of Sight; Dropsy and Swelling of the Feet; Palpitation of the Heart; Dyspepsia; Loss of Memory; Confusion of Ideas; Depression of Spirits; Aversion to Society; Self-Distrust; Timidity, etc. For each and all of the above symptoms these remedies will be found a "Sovereign Balm."
These remedies embrace three prescriptions: A box of Pastels, a box of Nervous Tonic Pills, and a box of Little Pink Pills, all of which have important offices to perform, and should be used together in every case. Their superiority over other modes of treatment may be readily stated as follows, viz: 1. They diminish the violence of sexual excitement. 2. They immediately arrest nocturnal and diurnal emissions. 3. They remove local weakness, causing the organs to assume their natural tone and vigor. 4. They strengthen the constitution by overcoming nervous debility and general weakness. 5. They enliven the spirits, which are usually depressed, by expelling all exciting causes from the system. 6. By their invigorating properties they restore the patient to his natural health and vigor of manhood. 7. They cure when all other means have failed. 8. They are safe in every case, and do no injury to anything that can in any event prove injurious. 9. They are easy and pleasant to use, and will not interfere with the patient's usual business or pleasure. 10. They can be used without suspicion, or knowledge of even a room-mate, or any other person. That they may be within the reach of all, we have fixed the price of the Pastels at $1 per box, and the Pills at 50 cents per box each. In ordering by mail, in addition to the price, twelve cents in stamps should be enclosed for return postage. LADIES in want of a safe and effective remedy for Irregularities, Suppression of the Menstrue, or any disease, peculiar to their sex, should use DR. GATES' Little Pink Pills. Price by mail, $1 and one stamp. CAUTION.—These Pills should not be used during pregnancy, as miscarriage will be the consequence. LADIES who, from ill-health, deformity, or any other human and reasonable cause, need necessary to avoid an increase of family, can do so without incurring danger to health or constitution by the use of M. L. Gates' French Preventive Powder. Price, by mail, $1 and two stamps. These Powders can only be obtained by addressing the General Agents, as below. Send for DR. GATES' Private Medical Treatise on Sexual Diseases; Price ten cents. Address: H. & MILLER & CO., General Agents, Louisville, Ky.

DEAR SIR: The Medicines you introduced into our city last winter are all having a large sale, and giving in every case satisfaction. Mr. James Henderson (one of our first citizens) says, that "he has used all of the Hair Dyes and Restoratives of the day, but has never used an article equal to HEIMSTREIT'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. That it far surpasses any preparation that he has ever tried for restoring the Hair of the bald and gray to its original luxuriance and beauty."
You can write the Proprietors, W. E. HAGAN & Co., Troy, N. Y., that they have the cheapest and best Hair Restorative in our market, and that it gives satisfaction in every case.

Gentlemen—The confidence I have in Perry Davis' Pain Killer as a remedy for Colds, Coughs, Burns, Sprains, and Rheumatism, for the cure of which I have successfully used it, induces me to cheerfully recommend its virtues to others.
A few months ago I had recourse to it to destroy a felon; although I had never heard of its being used for that purpose; but having suffered intensely from a former one, and having no other remedy at hand, I applied the Pain Killer freely for about fifteen minutes at evening, and repeated the application very briefly the next morning, which entirely destroyed the felon, and increased my confidence in the utility of the remedy.

DEATH AND RESIGNATIONS OF MEMBERS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

We are informed that Milton N. Carr, representative from the county of Metcalfe, has departed this life, also, that F. L. Cleveland, Esq., representative from Bracken county, and Col. W. H. Hays, representative from Washington county, have resigned their seats in the General Assembly. Col. Hays is an officer in Col. Harlan's regiment. We presume the Speaker of the House of Representatives has, or will issue writs of election to fill these vacancies, such being his duty, as the General Assembly is now in recess. We have not heard of any other resignations, although quite a number of the members, both of the House and Senate, have been recruiting regiments, companies, &c., for the army, and if successful, hold commissions therein.

The four Quarterlies and Blackwood's Magazine cost only $10 per year, while the British subscription price for the same works is $31. The commencement of the coming year is a good time to subscribe.

A Breakfast and What was Said at it.

The Massachusetts Twenty-third, in passing through New York city on Tuesday, took breakfast at the Astor House, which was the occasion of some speech making. The Rev. Dr. Osgood thus delivered himself of South Carolina: "South Carolina was foremost in the rebellion. He believed the conscience and Christian feeling of the country would be comforted if the city of Charleston were made a desert [immense applause]; if it were made a desert in which the owl and the bat would have their home. [Great applause.]"

Col. Brown, of Governor Andrew's (Massachusetts) staff, thought it a good thing to have it understood that the Massachusetts troops were impelled by religious enthusiasm as well as patriotic ardor.

"Recruited in old Essex county, it represented the Puritan spirit of its home, and it was now burst forth again. At camp, the prayer meeting had been as regularly attended as the drill, and the whole regiment was full of the old Cromwellian fire."

Col. Burnside, of Rhode Island, referred to slavery, which was, of course, very palatable to the Massachusetts troops. On that topic he said:

"The truth in all its monstrosity was upon us, and if that slavery which had been the very cause of the war should really prove, as it was now thought to be, a positive source of belligerent strength to the enemy, he, for one, would wish to see it swept away. [Tremendous sensation and applause.] He had once thought that the old recognition of all State Rights might be maintained, but the time had come when all rights and liberties were menaced to save them, if needs be, even by the infringement of one branch of them! [Great acclamation.] If one part of our system be bad, in order to save the rest, let us destroy that bad part! [Renewed cheering.] It would be poor generalship to leave either a positive or latent source of strength to the foe untouched."

This Massachusetts regiment is said to be one of the finest in the service from that State. They will, we see it stated, be transferred to Beaufort.

The following are the names of the wounded of the Second Ohio Regiment, who arrived on the Boston:

Captain Berryhill, (flesh wound in arm); Corporal Thomas M. Fish, in shoulder, badly; David Hill, in face, badly; Patrick Flaherty, John Estrip, Hawthorn, Wilson, Joseph Carter, Corporal E. B. Simpson, Henry Giese, (pioneer), and Stephen A. Coleman, (scout). Two or three of these men were removed to St. John's Hotel for Invalids and the remainder to the Military Hospitals.

It will be seen by the telegraphic dispatches that the Toronto (Canada) papers are quite severe and pointed against the United States for our seizure of Mason and Slidell from the British steamer.

KILLED.—Wm. Cheek killed Dr. H. G. McGee, at Southville P. O., in Shelby county, Ky., on Saturday last. Mr. Cheek delivered himself up to the authorities. An investigation will be necessary to reveal all the facts connected with the affair.

HEALTH OF GEN. HOUSTON.—The Galveston Civilian says that "at last accounts Gen. Houston was slowly recovering, and was deemed out of danger."

The comet, whose sudden appearance in the Northern heavens last summer startled the world, is still seen through a telescope in the constellation of Hercules. According to Prof. Tuttle's calculations, it is now more than 247,000,000 miles from the earth, while on the 28th day of June it was only about 12,000,000 miles distant from us, and branched its enormous tail quite close to our sphere.

The Frankfort Commonwealth is delighted with the speech of John Cochrane, and considers the Democrat not as sound as it ought to be, in that it condemns that speech. Well, if the Commonwealth advises the arming of negroes against their masters, we don't, and we judge, very few Union men North or South will agree with the Commonwealth. He will have to look to Greeley & Co. for aid and comfort. The Administration does not agree with him; that's certain.

The Fight Near Picketon.

Unparalleled March—Arrival of Ten Wounded Soldiers of the Second Ohio Regiment.

The steamer Boston, from Maysville, arrived at our wharf yesterday, having on board Brigade-Surgeon Bradford of Gen. Nelson's command, Lieut. Nugent, and Rev. Mr. Bayless, Chaplain of Col. Marshall's Kentucky Regiment, and Capt. Berryhill and nine privates of the Second Ohio, wounded in the recent skirmish near Picketon. From Surgeon Bradford we gather some interesting particulars relative to recent events in Eastern Kentucky, in addition to those already made public.

The Doctor and his companions were, of course, greatly surprised on learning the grossly exaggerated statements of the fight at Ivy Mountain sent from Paris and Lexington, and wonder the misrepresentations were not the other way, as a frightened soldier throw down his musket and ran back several miles, reporting that Col. Marshall's regiment was cut to pieces, and that Gen. Nelson himself had been killed.

The actual loss of the enemy is not known, certainly. Eleven dead bodies were buried by our troops, and two wounded died after the fight.

We understand from Surgeon Bradford that all our troops in Eastern Kentucky have been ordered to Lexington, and are now on their way to that point. Col. Metcalfe's Kentucky Regiment came down the Big Sandy on rafts. One of these rafts were wrecked in the rapids about sixty miles above the mouth of the stream, and one man drowned. About sixty muskets were also lost.

The Second, Twenty-first and Thirty-third Ohio, and Col. Marshall's Kentucky Regiments are marching across the country to Maysville, and may be expected at our wharf on Thursday or Friday, en route for Lexington.

Seventeen wounded soldiers, belonging to the Kentucky Regiments, were left at Maysville.

The End of the Cumberland Gap Expedition—A Disastrous Retreat.
W. D. Bickham, the Kentucky correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, thus writes of a strange and disastrous retreat in Kentucky. He says:

PRESTO.
An order has just been issued ordering every regiment in this brigade to move at 8 o'clock this evening. The object of it is not generally understood. Those to whom it has been explained are surprised and chagrined. The column is ordered to move back as rapidly as possible to Crab Orchard, and to transport all the sick who can be removed. The order was predicated upon an order from Gen. Thomas, who forwarded it by express relays from Crab Orchard. It is reported that a heavy column, divested from Buckner's command, is running rapidly forward upon Somerset, to cut us off. Thus you perceive a big scare is at the bottom of the retrograde operation. It is not worth while to speculate upon the subject. I suspect, however, that this is but a brilliant cover for the ridiculous termination of the great Cumberland Gap Expedition. It may have been devised, as a decent apology for recalling the Tennessee regiments. I have been disposed to think Gen. Thomas was responsible for the failure of this enterprise, but it is now apparent that the late commander of the Department of the Cumberland was the responsible party.

CAMP NEAR CRAB ORCHARD, Ky., November 15.

After a march of almost unparalleled severity, considering there was no apparent necessity for it, the part of the Wild Cat Brigade arrived this evening at a point within two miles of Crab Orchard, and went into camp. Many of our poor fellows are still struggling and struggling along the road painfully striving to reach a harbor of rest. This march was as disastrous as a battle and defeat. I have no time now, even if I were not severely fatigued, to depict the wretched picture. I will do it hereafter.

The Fourteenth, Seventeenth, and Thirty-eighth Ohio will camp here. The Tennesseans and Third Kentucky Regiment were ordered back to London after the advance of the former have reached a point three miles beyond Mt. Vernon. Many of the Tennesseans went back before orders were issued to that effect, proclaiming their intention to return home. Our march has temporarily disabled the entire brigade, and large numbers will be in the hospitals in a day or two. So ends the "great Cumberland Gap Expedition."

Last night the Thirty-eighth Ohio encamped five miles south of London. During the night a decayed tree was blown down in camp, and several men were dangerously injured—one said to be fatally hurt.

Secretary Cameron Speaks Again.

During a recent visit to Springfield, Mass., Secretary Cameron, held forth in this wise:

Mr. Cameron spoke of the cause of the war, and said that every body understood what had produced it; it was the discordant element of slavery. In regard to that institution, he believed that the end of the war would be the end of slavery, unless the rebels returned to their duties and their loyalty.

The Secretary, in the course of the conversation, further remarked that in fitting out the expedition which had so recently sailed for the South, he had directed that an extra quantity of gunshell accompany the forces, and that the commander should place these arms in the hands of any men who might offer to use them. He had no doubt that plenty of men would be found, even in South Carolina, who would be willing to fight for the cause of freedom, and the preservation of the Union. In this belief, he would say that any other expedition that might hereafter go South, should take sufficient arms to enable those who desired to fight to take the field in aid of the Union cause.

The views of the Secretary were received with the greatest gratification, enhanced by the frankness, readiness, and courtesy, with which he responded to the many inquiries of those who sought his opinion. The war and the Government were vastly strengthened in the heart of Massachusetts by Simon Cameron's free talk with the people of Springfield.

JESSE D. BRIGHT TO TAKE HIS SEAT IN THE SENATE.—The Independent Press, published at Madison, Indiana, says:

It is believed among his best friends that Hon. Jesse D. Bright, as he did nothing disloyal, will take his seat at the proper time as one of the Senatorial Representatives of Indiana. We hope, if he does, he will vote right, for the country needs men.

THE BATTLE NEAR PICKETON.—We publish this morning, from the Gazette, a letter from its correspondent at Picketon, Ky., an account of the late engagement near that place between a division of the rebels and General Nelson's Brigade. It seems that, in their anxiety to reach the enemy, our troops were drawn into an ambush. Fortunately the enemy had no cannon, or else the Union troops would have been in a bad fix. As it was, our loss was small. Our own correspondent makes the loss on each side about equal. The skirmish took place about half way between Prestonsburg and Picketon.

[From the Covington Journal.]

Reorganization of the Democratic Party of Kentucky.

To the Editor of the Covington Journal:

Considerations of the first moment demand the reorganization of the Democratic party of Kentucky.

We cannot get along without parties, and it is very questionable whether public liberty and the rights of the masses would be promoted if we could and did.

Practically there are but two parties in the North—the Democratic and the Republican. The policy of the State and General Governments must be dictated and controlled by the one or the other. The policy of the Democratic party is broadly national, whilst that of the Republican party is purely sectional.

The people of Kentucky must choose between these parties. They cannot long put off the choice. Indeed, the sooner they take their position the better for the State and the country.

It is not unlikely that the suggestion for the reorganization of the Democratic party will encounter the objection, "that the present is not the time to take such action." This objection is not well taken. There never has been a time in the history of the country when the services of the Democratic party were more urgently demanded than now. The expenditures of the general Government are said to be over a million of dollars a day. In this connection we cannot shut our eyes to two facts: 1. That the handling of this vast amount of money by Government officials, opens wide the door for corruption, extravagance, and embezzlement. 2. That its expenditure will entail burdensome taxation upon us and our children. How much of the public money has been squandered or stolen since the war began, no man can say. We read of a receiving $175,000 as commission for purchasing vessels; of B making $100,000 on a shoe contract; of C, $50,000 on a mule contract, &c. In fact, the newspapers teem with accounts of useless appropriations, swindling contractors, and dishonest paymasters. Grant that the people are willing to expend their last dollar for the prosecution of the war, you may rest assured that they will, as they ought to, imperatively demand that their hard earnings shall not be squandered upon swindling contractors and other dishonest camp followers. It will be the peculiar province of the Democratic party, as the party in opposition, to see that the people's money is judiciously appropriated and honestly and faithfully expended.

More than this, and as an unanswerable argument in favor of the immediate reorganization of the Democratic party of Kentucky, I express the conviction which has found a lodgment in thousands of intelligent minds at the North as well as at the South, that the only hope for the restoration of the Union depends upon the ascendancy of Democratic principles. Let the people of the South know that the Democratic party is to resume control of the legislation of the United States, coupled with the assurance that the Republican party is down, with no prospect of regaining power, and the way will be at once opened for a speedy and honorable adjustment of all existing difficulties between the North and South.

Mr. Editor, I will not now further trespass upon your space, but with your permission, will, in another paper, offer some suggestions in regard to the basis of reorganization—suggestions which I trust will commend themselves to the favorable consideration of all men who oppose sectionalism and yet recognize the duty of acquiescing in the action of the constituted authorities of the State and General Governments.

Respectfully,

A JACKSON DEMOCRAT.

[From the Cincinnati Enquirer.]

John Cochrane and Arming the Slaves—The endorsement of that Policy by Secretary Cameron.

The Cincinnati Gazette's Washington special dispatches of yesterday had the following:

"The marrow of John Cochrane's speech, the whole of which Secretary Cameron unqualifiedly indorsed, is in the following paragraph, which we quote verbatim:

"This is a war which moves toward the protection of our homes, the safety of our families, the continuation of domestic altars and the protection of our firesides. In such a war we are justified, and are bound to resort to every force within our power.

"[Shall we not seize the cotton at Beaufort, the munitions of war? And if you would seize their property, open their eyes, and even destroy their lives, I ask you whether you would not use their slaves? whether you would not arm their slaves, [great applause,] and carry them in battalions against their masters? [Renewed and tumultuous applause.] If necessary to save this Government, I would plunge their whole country, black and white, in one indiscriminate sea of blood, so that at the end, there would be a Government which would be the vicegerent of God.

"You have arms in your hands, placed there for the purpose of exterminating an enemy unless he submits to law, order, and the Constitution. If he will not submit, explode every thing that comes in your way; set fire to the cotton; explode the cotton; take the slave, and bestow him on the non-slaveholders of the South. [Great applause.] Do to them as they would do to you. Raise up a party interest against the absent slaveholder. Distract their councils, and if this should not be sufficient, take the slave by the hand, place a musket in it, and in God's name bid him strike for the liberty of the human race." [Immense applause.]

This speech of Mr. Cochrane has gladdened the hearts of the radical Republicans more than any thing that has yet occurred. We do not ourselves regard so much what Mr. Cochrane said as his indorsement by the Secretary of War. Mr. Cochrane himself, and what he may say, are not of very much consequence. He always was crotchety, vacillating, and uncertain. He was one of the connectors of the Buffalo Platform, and has vibrated since between that and extreme proslavery. He has now taken the back shuttle, and gone clean over the Buffalo contrivance, and is for placing arms in the hands of the slaves, and bidding them in God's name strike for "the liberty of the human race." His uncle, Gerrit Smith, the notorious Abolitionist, can now rejoice that he has a nephew in Mr. Cochrane, who bids fair to outstrip himself in his anti-slavery views.

The Capture of Slidell and Mason from a British Steamer.

The great sensational news item of the day is the capture of John Slidell and Jas. M. Mason, Commissioners appointed by the Southern rebels to represent their interest at the Courts of France and England. They were taken by force off a British mail steamer by the United States frigate San Jacinto, against the remonstrance of the British Captain and the protest of the Commissioners. The responsibility for the act, which is a most extraordinary one, is assumed by Captain Wilkes, who in any event was determined to have Mason and Slidell, whom he learned were aboard of the British vessel. The people of the North will be pleased to secure such leading spirits among the rebels, but grave doubts of the policy of the seizure, under the circumstances, will force themselves upon the cautious and discreet. How Great Britain will regard the matter—whether our own Government will sanction it, is uncertain, although we are told in the dispatches that the news created great rejoicing in Washington.—Cin. ## Rebel Account of the Killed and Wounded at Belmont.

Our correspondent at Cairo sends us the Memphis Appeal, of Monday evening, surcharged with inflated accounts of the battle at Belmont. The most extravagant estimates are made of the number of Federal troops engaged, and the loss is greatly exaggerated. A writer in the Appeal says:

Information was received from General Pillow, by the committee, on Saturday, that our loss in killed, wounded, and missing would probably amount to 600, but gentlemen who left Columbus Saturday night, say that the wounded were not reckoned there when he left at more than two hundred. It seems to be admitted that there will not be need for preparations here for more than that number. The Memphis and Ohio Railroad train was delayed four hours, and when it did come in, a large crowd, anticipating the arrival of the wounded and dead, were present. But their anticipations were not realized. A few only from Columbus were aboard, but none of the wounded. The corpse of John Harris, of the Thirteenth Regiment, Captain John Morgan's Company, reached the city on the Ohio train from Columbus, and was deposited in the dead room in the Overton Hospital. Late passengers from Columbus brought information that the steamers Jazo and Hill were on the way with the wounded, and a large concourse awaited their arrival, which did not take place till near 12 o'clock.

DISPATCH FROM GEN. PILLOW.

COLUMBUS, Ky., Nov. 7.

Mrs. GID. J. PILLOW. We had a hard fought battle lasted from nine to five o'clock. I fought four regiments against nine for four hours without help. We drove the enemy back three times; his greatly superior numbers overpowered my command. I rallied it repeatedly, and ultimately got reinforcements, drove them from the field, and pursued them five miles and into their boats. Loss severe—the enemy's more so. I am not hurt.

GID. J. PILLOW.

DISPATCH FROM GEN. CHEATHAM.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.

To F. R. CHEATHAM. We fought all day yesterday. The enemy landed about opposite side of river. I crossed over at two o'clock. Enemy routed. All right.

F. R. CHEATHAM.

TENNESSEAN CONGRESSMEN ELECTED.

The following gentlemen have been elected to Congress:

D. M. Currin, Eleventh District; J. C. D. Atkins, Ninth District; Thomas Menace, Eighth District; Geo. W. Jones, Seventh District; M. F. Gentry, Sixth District; H. S. Poole, Fifth District; E. L. Gardinier, Fourth District; W. G. Swan, Second District; J. B. Heiskell, First District.

This leaves the Third and Tenth Districts still in doubt; but we are inclined to the opinion that A. G. Welker is elected in the Third, and John V. Wright in the Tenth.

Memphis Appeal, 11th.

COLUMBUS, Ky., Nov. 12.

"It was reported in camp last night, on what I have reason to believe good authority, that Col. Bonham's Mississippi regiment and Lieut. Col. King's battalion had left Camp Beauregard on the 8th instant, and passing through Mayfield, had occupied Viola, a point on the railroad some eight or nine miles nearer Paducah, and that the remainder of Gen. Bowen's command had taken up a position near Mayfield, which you will remember is about twenty-five miles from Paducah. I am unable to say whether these points are occupied with a view to the offensive or defensive operations, as it may either be construed into an offensive movement against Paducah, or a defensive measure to prevent a flank movement upon Columbus.

Since writing the above, a rumor has reached camp that Bowen's forces were near Mayfield by about 6,000 Federals, a fierce battle ensued, and victory again perched upon our standard. There are no details given, and the report seems to be too vague to command my fullest confidence, but I give it for what it is worth. The report wears every shade of probability, but like things seen at a distance, there are no sharp outlines, and which the mind's eye can rest upon.

"RICHMOND, Nov. 13.

The Secretary of the Navy has received a dispatch announcing the safe arrival of a steamer from England with arms, ammunition, &c., for the Confederate Government.

"The steamer Fingal, purchased in Scotland by agents of the Confederate Government, arrived safely at Savannah to-day.

"The Savannah Republican, of the 4th, announces that the British steamer Bermuda, with a cargo of 1,800 bales of cotton, succeeded in getting to sea from that port. Saturday night last, about 8 o'clock, she weighed anchor, proceeded down the stream, and finding all things favorable, made a clear and triumphant exit over the bar. She cleared for Havre."

UNFORTUNATE DIVERSION OF MILITARY ENERGIES.

It is reported that Gen. Sherman has arrested G. P. Buell, correspondent of the Cincinnati Times, and is crying havoc and letting slip the dogs of war generally among newspaper army correspondents. The specific offense of Mr. Buell is not given. Certainly he has not disclosed anything that Gen. Sherman has done, and there seems to have been the most perfect guarantee that he would not disclose anything that Gen. Sherman was about to do.

Gen. Sherman distinguished his accession to the command in Kentucky by inaugurating a vigorous war on newspaper correspondents. Great expectations were raised by this of an energetic prosecution of the war in that department. People said, if he is so formidable to friendly correspondents, how terrible he will be to the enemy when he meets him. But unfortunately for the public service the war on the newspaper men exhausted Gen. Sherman's energies, and his campaign in Kentucky closed as it began, with a general attack on newspaper correspondents. The same fatality seems to have attended all our Generals who have distinguished themselves by their achievements against correspondents.—Cin. Gaz., 17th.

THE RETROGRADE MOVEMENT IN MISSOURI.

The St. Louis Democrat, in noticing the movement of Gen. Hunter's forces from Springfield to St. Louis, says:

The reason for this abandonment of the Southwestern campaign we suppose must remain for a time a matter of speculation. It is not to be supposed that our army is retreating in any fear of the result of a contest with the rebel forces, and we are left to conjecture that the concentration of Gen. Hunter's forces at this point has a more important meaning than the mere providing of good winter quarters for the troops. In the meantime if the whole army is to be retired, what is to become of the Union men of the southwest, and how soon may we expect a return of General Price and his army to the far regions of Lafayette and Saline counties.

A statement reached this city yesterday by the steamer Major Anderson, that the rebels had occupied Uniontown, Ky., and that Gen. Sherman had sent five regiments to Evansville, a force equal to that of the marauders. Our Indianapolis dispatch probably refers to the same report.

Cin. Gazette, Nov. 16th.

TELEGRAPHIC.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.

The National Intelligencer of this morning contains an elaborate article fully justifying the capture of Mason and Slidell. It cites authorities to show that, under the acknowledged law of nations, Captain Wilkes was authorized to board the English steamer and demand the delivery of persons charged with rebellion against the Government. It is believed here that this article foreshadows the grounds which will be taken by the State Department on this question.

The Richmond Enquirer gives the names of 13 hostages, to await the trial of the privateers at the North. They are Colonels Corcoran, Lee, Cogswell, Wilcox, Woodruff and Neff; Majors Potter, Revere and Vegdes; Captains Rockwood, Rowman and Keffer.

The cargo of the steamer said to have arrived at Savannah consisted of 10 rifled cannon, 28,000 stand of arms, and a large cargo of medicines, clothing, blankets, &c. The vessel cost $23,000, and is regarded as unsurpassed in speed. Her commander is J. D. Bullock, formerly of the U. S. Navy.

Foreign News—Arrival of the City of Washington.

The Times exposes Lord Lyons' bad grammar in his letters to Mr. Seward. It says the English side was argued exceedingly well, and the American with much ability, but the only result is to entirely convince it that by their own showing, the acts of the American Government have been illegal as regards American citizens, and violations of the rights of nations as regards foreigners.

The London Herald says Lord Lyons has exposed England to rebuff without the right to resent. The Herald then attacks Earl Russell for impertinence in lecturing on the American Constitution, and quietly indorsing robbery and outrage, and says he will find him as drifted on to war.

The Post says Secretary Seward has wistfully added another to the many differences which he wishes to perpetuate between the two countries.

The Daily News thinks the course pursued by the Government premature and inconsiderate.

It was reported that American bankers were holding out liberal commissions to English financiers to place a portion of the Federal loan in London. Financial writers in the London journals point out the danger of touching. It and think the chances of success very remote.

The Times has an editorial on the ill feeling of the North toward England, and argues on its groundlessness. It says it shall continue to express the conviction that secession has destroyed the Federal Union, and to which ever side victory inclines its reconstruction is impossible on the old basis.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.

Although there appears to be plenty of law to sustain Captain Wilkes, Lord Lyons is very noisy, and as yet, while being compelled to remain officially silent, is unofficially impudent. In all his conversations he assumes that there will be no question between his Government and ours, because the latter will apologize and return Mason and Slidell.

Many diplomats, including some friendly to us, express the opinion unreservedly that there will be a war with England, they perceiving what seems to escape Lord Lyons, that we shall not be bullied out of our just rights, and that England cannot treat us as she habitually treats weak nations.

[Special Dispatch to the Commercial.]

The Republican of this morning states that it has positive information of the arrival of a number of rebel prisoners from the Washington military prisons, and that these have been sent to Fortress Monroe, and will there be exchanged for Union prisoners at the South. It has been evident for some days that exchanges to a certain extent would be made.

Beauregard is now at Centerville. He has not been South, as reported.

The statement that the President intends issuing a proclamation calling upon the States for 200,000 more volunteers is unfounded. When the 500,000 volunteers called for by the act of Congress has been recruited, no more will be received except in the regular service.

Several rebel prisoners have been released in Washington, and taking the oath not to bear arms against the United States. Others have signified their desire to take the oath of allegiance. This is preliminary to their release for an equal number who have been released by the rebels.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 19.

General McClellan has ordered six of the Ohio and two of the Indiana regiments to Kentucky from Western Virginia. There is a probability that other Indiana regiments will soon follow.

St. LOUIS, Nov. 19.

General Hunter has relinquished and Gen. Halleck has assumed the command of this Department.

Canadian Views of Slidell and Mason's Capture.

TORONTO, Nov. 18.

The Globe and Leader newspapers have severe articles to-day on the seizure of Mason and Slidell. The Globe says it will add to the strength and dignity of the American Government if the captives are liberated without remonstrance from Britain. The Leader says it is an insult which the meanest Government on earth would not submit to.

Women Wanted.

We have heretofore alluded to the great deficiency of females in the new territories of the far West, and especially in the mining regions; but the subject is now again brought forward more prominently by various influential journals. Governor Gilpin, the new chief-magistrate of Colorado, in his message to the first Legislature of the territory, says:

"The predominance in numbers of male citizens over females and children is a fact so remarkable as to have no recorded precedent in any society voluntarily planted and perpetuated in the wilderness."

In this the Governor is mistaken. Nevada is precisely in the same condition, and California was much worse off ten years ago. The want is a strange one, and yet characteristic of the newness of the settlements and of the suddenness of the migratory movement. Very many young men and bachelors have mingled in the emigration, in pursuit of adventure or fortune, in the mining region. Families are rare among the gold seekers, owing to the wild and rude organization of society. It would be a great blessing to both Colorado and Nevada if an emigration of females to those territories could be obtained. It would do more to give character and permanence to the settlements than anything else which could be done. Many thousands of poor girls, destitute of employment in these remote regions, might establish themselves for life in domestic happiness and comfort, if but some benevolent and responsible body of persons would undertake to manage the enterprise of sending them out. This would be true charity, and result in lasting good.—Exchange.

Benny D. Carroll's regim't, received two bullets in his right breast. Captain J. T. Layton and Taylor, of Pickett's regim't, are both dangerously wounded. Major Thos. Stokes, of Colonel Cathin's regim't, and Captain Toby and Lieutenant William Coleman, of the Cuba Guards, are reported killed. Colonel Preston Smith had his horse shot under him.

The battle throughout was exceedingly fierce. The fire on Pillow's force in the first instance was tremendous. The Federals fought with unusual bravery. They were picked men—the very flower of the Mississippi army. Only our superior Generalship and the desperate courage of our men gave us victory. The whole field was covered with slain Federals. It is supposed that from four hundred to five hundred Federals at least were killed, and as many wounded. Our two hundred prisoners had been brought in Thursday night. It is supposed that the enemy lost in killed, wounded, and prisoners, at least one thousand. Among the prisoners are Colonel Dougherty, General Bowling, Colonel Buford, a Lieutenant-Colonel, a Captain of Artillery, and other commissioned officers.

The butchery of the Federals was most terrific after they had reached their boats. Packed together in dense masses, Smith's regiment poured on them, for half an hour, an incessant fire at a distance of only eighty yards. An immense number were killed and wounded; the gutters around the boats filled with torrents of blood, which crimsoned the river around for a considerable distance, and made the decks so slippery that the men could scarcely stand. Those who approached the wheel were shot down as fast as they appeared, so that they were compelled to turn the boat into the stream without guidance.

Colonel Bryson, of this city, walked over the battle-field on Friday. He saw about two hundred dead Lincolns, which was supposed not to be a half. The Twenty-seventh and the Seventeenth Illinois were cut all to pieces. The captain of one of these regiments that superintended the burial of their dead, said that a Corporal's Guard could not be got out of the Iowa regiment.

General Pillow telegraphed on Saturday that our loss in killed and wounded was about six hundred.

The Right of Search and Seizure at Sea.

The seizure of Mason and Slidell on board a British steamer at sea, by the commander of the American war steamer San Jacinto, has probably been regarded as a step forward for a nation, hitherto, so distinguished for its policy in its regard to searches and seizures at sea. The right of search has been one of our national antipathies, quite as much as British tyranny, or taxation without representation. The British practice of seizing their subjects on board our vessels, was the chief reason for our last war with that nation; and our motto "Free Trade and Sailors' Rights" meant no searches nor seizures from our vessels. So strenuous have we been to inforce thereon, on some paper to be filed therewith, the names of all the parties, appellant and appellee, as the case is desired to stand on the docket of this Court; and also a reference to the judgment sought to be reversed, designating the page of the record where it may be found.

Mandates and Executions.

Mandates and executions can be taken out during the term, after the expiration of fifteen days of actual session of the Court, not counting Sundays or periods of recess.

TAX ON APPEALS.

The tax on appeal is one dollar, and in all cases must be paid to the Clerk of the Court of appeals before the case will be docketed.

Southern Account of the Belmont Battle.

The Great Battle at Columbus—Our Troops Repulsed and Driven to the Water's Edge—General Pillow—Charge—Gallant Conduct of General Pillow—Address of General Cheatham.

To prevent the Federals from erecting batteries on the Missouri shore opposite Columbus, and to act as scouts, Colonel Tappan's Arkansas Regiment, Colonel Marks' Louisiana Regiment, and some cavalry, had been some months encamped on the Missouri shore opposite Columbus. News was brought to the encampment about 7 o'clock on Thursday morning, that the enemy was coming upon them in large force, and was actually only three miles distant. Immediately information of the fact was sent over to Columbus, when Gen. Pillow, with Colonels Rickett's, Russell's, and Wright's Regiments, and Logwood's Cavalry, were transported across the river. They had only landed and gone about half a mile from the boats, when the enemy appeared in full force in the woods, and the fighting immediately commenced. The right battery, which had been stationed on the Missouri shore was first brought into requisition, but the enemy kept advancing and driving in our force as they moved, till finally, by 12 o'clock M., they had taken our battery and entire encampment, our troops being forced under the bluff to the water's edge.

The enemy, flushed with victory, then partially ceased their pursuit, and engaged in some trifling tactics, killing prisoners, and committing other depredations. They shortly after opened a fire on the steamers Prince and Charm, which were engaged in bringing over reinforcements, sending a ball through the wheel-house of both, but not seriously injuring either. This led our friends at Columbus to suspect that our side had been repulsed, and immediately a heavy cannonade was opened from the Columbus side on the enemy in our camp on the Missouri shore. The 128-pounder did fearful execution. In the mean time General Pillow, having been reinforced by Colonels Carroll's, Walker's, Brennan's, Stephens', and the Twelfth Louisiana Regiments, reformed his forces about a mile below our encampment on the road, and executed a flank movement on the enemy, re-captured our battery, and was gallantly driving the Federals before him with great slaughter, when, about 2 o'clock, he was still further reinforced by Colonel Smith's Regiment and Blythe's Mississippi Battery, in command of General Cheatham, who, on landing on the Missouri side, briefly but eloquently appealed to the men "to follow him, and he would lead them to hell or to victory." The men, being fresh, soon caught up with the flying enemy, and in conjunction with Logwood's cavalry battalion, pursued and cut them down to within fifty yards of the gun-boats on which the enemy debarked—the enemy meanwhile keeping up a most terrific cannonade, upon our pursuing hosts, from the gun-boats.

We captured a large lot of ammunition, about two thousand stand of arms, a few pieces of artillery, besides knapsacks, wagons, colors, and overcoats, without number.

The enemy had engaged in the fight, ten regiments, fifteen pieces of light artillery, and some cavalry.

Mr. Harman, of this city, says that when he left the scene of the fight one hundred of our killed had been brought in, and it was supposed that there were from fifty to one hundred more scattered about on the field. He estimates the wounded on our side at from two hundred to thirty to three hundred.

Captain J. Willy Armstrong was shot all to pieces. Colonel Pickett was shot between the shoulder and the breast. Major J. G. Finnie, aid to Pillow, had the lower jaw-bone on the right side shot off. Captain Saffrons was badly wounded, but was not dead up to 12 o'clock. Lieutenant J. Walker was badly wounded in the leg. Captain Easley, of company D. Carroll's regiment, received two bullets in his right breast. Captain J. T. Layton and Taylor, of Pickett's regiment, are both dangerously wounded. Major Thos. Stokes, of Colonel Cathin's regiment, and Captain Toby and Lieutenant William Coleman, of
